

DIABETICAL

Diabetical Wear News | Edition 1 | Written by Logan Fairbrother

Ambassadors

Anyone wanting to become a diabetical wear ambassador will be able to apply for season 2 very shortly, this will be an update with the website, and you can fill out the form as usual, thank you.

Challenges

we give you simple tasks to complete for example it could be message a diabetic and tell them how well they're doing or finding new ambassadors, it can be anything but they are always kind and simple, the more tasks you complete the higher your score gets when you get to the milestones you can receive your first badge the 'Rising Star' and then you will keep ranking up as your ranking up we give you rewards (an example, 50% off any item or get a free Diabetical hat it can vary)

Products

We have had many messages about where products are have gone, we are adding them to our new website throughout this and next week, this will only be season 2 products as season 1 products are being added at a different time. Thanks.

dw. Members

This is the new dw members page, we wanted to make it possible to easily find new people with type one, so we made it possible! Everyone that creates a profile will be listed on one page. You can edit your profile picture, change your username. If you follow a person you can click the message button and start a convo or you can press the message button at the bottom corner of the screen it a message icon in a orange circle and you can message any member, even me! We hope you enjoy this new feature as much as we do!

don't worry.

September 7, 2020